PILOT TO LAND
AT FAIR GROUNDS

Miss Harriette Wheaton Will Fly; Gazette to Evansville
Via Air Route.

Louis Levy of the Golden Eagle said today that according to the latest information received by him the checker board airplane carrying merchandise for the Golden Eagle from the Alfred Decker company of Chicago would arrive at the fair grounds Tuesday afternoon at 1 o'clock. Pilot Hassel, who is driving the Curtiss biplane, is scheduled to leave Chicago at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning. One stop will be made at Beloit, at 11:30 o'clock.

Pilot Hassel will again take the air at 12:45 o'clock and expects to travel the 14 intervening miles between Beloit and Janesville in 15 minutes.

Will Greet Aviator.

Mayor T. E. Welsh, J. P. Cullen, president of the Chamber of Commerce and Louis Levy will greet the aviator on his arrival here. He will be the guest of the city until 2:30 o'clock when he will leave for Madison carrying the Gazette's special airplane edition which will be dropped at Evansville.

Arrangements have been made to notify the people of Evansville of the approach of the checker board plane. The aviator leaves here word will be sent to Evansville and the whistles will blow and the bells ring, announcing that the huge checkerboard plane is soon to arrive.

Efforts were made today to have the plane land at Evansville on its flight to Madison, but owing to the fact that it would necessitate sending an aviator to Evansville to choose a suitable landing place it was deemed advisable not to attempt it at this time.

Mr. Levy said today that the trip had been extremely bad. "I have been told by one of the pilots," he said, "that the weather was so bad that the plane would start Tuesday without fail unless unforeseen weather developments." Mr. Levy said. (Weather predictions for Tuesday are fair and cooler.)

School children will be given an opportunity of witnessing the arrival of the plane at the fair grounds. Supp. H. F. Faust announced today that he is providing the aviator with a car tomorrow that all schools in the city would be dismissed at noon in order to allow the children to view the arrival of the plane.

All who possibly can are asked to be at the city hall at 12:15 o'clock to participate in the parade to the fair grounds. An auto system will be put in place to handle the throngs of the World's Fair shows will lead the procession and give a short concert on the grounds.

ALL HOUSE OF ITALY STARTED AT SEZZE

Rome, June 9.—"Full House of Italy," circulating Chicago's famous example of social work, has been established at Sezze, a thickly populated mountain town. There are 14,000 inhabitants there.

Under American direction Sezze has established a government house, two orphan asylums for orphans of the war, a hospital and a system of relief for the needy. The money has been contributed by the inhabitants of the town. All the institutions are being supported by voluntary contributions.

The new social institutions have been operating under the direction of Miss Fraser, a former social worker in Chicago and Cincinnati. Miss Fraser is an American Red Cross worker but has called for help from her organization. She has skillfully aroused the interest of the residents in her projects and they have supported her with money and time to a remarkable extent.

Railroad Revolving Fund is Reduced

Washington, June 9.—Reduction of $450,000,000 in the $1,200,000,000 revolving fund asked for by the railroad administration for the remainder of the calendar year was made today by the house appropriations committee.

Irish Fight Is Predicted

Paris, June 9.—Guerilla warfare of a character, "which usually precedes a major conflict," it is now going on in Ireland, it is declared by Frank P. Walsh and Edward F. Dunne in a supplementary report which they have forwarded to President Wilson regarding conditions in Ireland.

Messrs. Walsh and Dunne, delegates of Irish societies in the United States, affirm in this addition to their report submitted to President Wilson last week that clashes between Irish volunteers and the army forces in Ireland, in which men on both sides were killed, are of daily occurrence.

ROCK COUNTY FARMS HAVE HIGH RECORD

Some idea of the tremendous strides Rock county is making along agricultural lines can be gained from a brief statistical statement issued today by B. G. Backer, director of immigration, Wisconsin department of agriculture.

This statement shows that since the last census in 1910 the county has added 15,771 acres or nearly 25 square miles in leading crops.

The increased acreage was most noticeable during the war when the demand for foodstuffs became greater than ever before in the history of the county.

War farmers have shown more interest in cattle raising and have turned their efforts toward pure breeds. The number of cattle in the county today is given at 58,915 or 3,300 more than were listed in 1910.

TRAINMEN OPEN LONG SESSION IN DENVER

Denver, Col., June 9.—Eight hundred and seventy delegates of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, officers of the grand lodge, secretaries and stenographers and their families were in Denver today for the opening session of the triennial convention of the organization.

The railroad men will remain for the next month, transacting the business affairs of the order and discussing measures for the benefit of its members.

Twenty-five hundred is expected to be the average attendance at convention sessions which will be held in the municipal auditorium. The women's auxiliary will meet in the nation's club building. The auditorium has been leased for one month, but it is probable that a longer period will be required to take care of the accumulated business and problems growing out of the reconstruction period. The 1916 convention was in session 33 days.

Leaders in the brotherhood were non-committal regarding questions of general interest which will come before the convention. If the question of government ownership, increased wages and amalgamation of the four great brotherhoods comes before the convention, this will be decided as the sessions continue, it was said.

Chicago, June 9.—After a conference with other union officials today, S. J. Konekamp, international president of the Commercial Telegraphers Union of America stated that final steps have been taken for the nation-wide strike of 70,000 telegraph and telephone operators next Wednesday. Telegrams from all sections of the country show the determination of the workers to win their fight," he said.

CRISIS IN GERMAN CABINET IS DENIED AS IDLE GOSSIP

Berlin, Sunday, June 8.—Rumors that a cabinet crisis is imminent are dismissed in official quarters as idle gossip. The fact that Herr Wiesel, minister without portfolio and Dr. Bernhard Dernburg, minister of finance, differ respecting the conduct of post-war economic control has started a report that there is serious discussion in the cabinet. The issue, it is contended, cannot be decided until peace is arranged and is, in any case, purely personal.

There is no internal difference as to leading national and foreign issues and this is the only government available or possible which can sign or reject the peace treaty," a member of the government told the Associated Press today.

The Spartacist League has issued an appeal to proletarians "the world over" to make June 13 the day of the funeral of Rosa Luxemburg, the radical socialist leader who was killed by a mob here early in the year and whose body was found in the Haidplatz canal June 1, an intentional holiday.

Dr. Bernhard Dernburg, advocates in the course of an interview printed in the Tageblatt, a league of nations, loan finance nations seeking to recover their economic equilibrium.

Dr. Dernburg suggests that such loans as are granted former warring countries might be guaranteed by taxes or other real pledges and security, and arguing that the demands of the entente are "largely due to the pre-occupation and France over her grave financial position of business and the principle, there must be international solidarity in financial as well as political fields.

The chief difficulty of the financial clauses of the peace treaty would thus be solved, he says. "The speedy reconstruction of France would be assured and Germany would get bread, work and a possibility of fulfilling her obligations."

U. S. PREPARED TO PROTECT NICARAGUA

Washington, June 9.—With a substantial marine guard in Nicaragua and a warship on each coast, the United States is prepared to protect that country from invasion by foreigners. It was learned today from official sources. No action is expected, however, pending the outcome of an investigation now being made by the state department.

War Time Bootmaking Comes to End in London

London, June 9.—The War Time Boot department of the government, having produced over 20,000,000 pairs of boots, has now come to an end. The director, F. J. Marquis, says in a statement that the department has produced as many boots as are required at a reasonable rate. He said the government has purchased a very large amount of leather for the purpose of boot making and that they prevent their retailers from doing so.

He Tried to Eliminate All But German; Retires

Berlin, June 9.—Berlin's former police president, Von Jagow, who tried to eliminate all but German words from the German language during the war with humorous results, has retired with the conviction that the German people will yearn to have its socialist Kaiserdom again.

WINNIPEG UNION MEN RETURNING TO WORK

Winnipeg, Man., June 9.—Additional union men who have been in strike here for nearly a month in sympathy with the metal workers' union, were returning to work today, according to reports received by the citizens' committee this morning. It was also reported today that several of the unions involved in the strike have decided to take a vote relative to returning to work immediately. In face of the argument by the leaders of the strike that to return to work without a settlement being reached with the employers is to admit defeat. Several meetings of union men are to be held during the morning, according to reports. That action may be taken cannot be forecast.

Strike leaders sent out an appeal to all union men this morning "to not do anything about returning to work until Tuesday." The leaders indicated that railway brotherhoods might do something within the next 24 hours that would have a bearing on the strike.

Several Winnipeg concerns affected by the strike notified their employees this morning that their jobs would be held open until tomorrow. Advertisements for workers, returned soldiers preferred, were printed in a local newspaper.

DELIRIUM TREMENS TO END WITH PEACE PREDICTS HOOVER

Paris, June 9.—"This sort of economic delirium tremens will end with peace," said Herbert C. Hoover, discussing the situation in Europe and the need of financing different nations. "I do not take it we will finance any more wars in Europe, directly or indirectly," he said, "nor that we will provide money to enable the people of Europe to live without work, or to work part time, as at present all over Europe. This sort of economic delirium tremens will end with peace."

The amount of credits from the United States to Europe during the year after peace, revolves around the ability of the nations to pay for (A) raw material, machinery and tools, (B) food, (C) currency reorganization, and (D) interest on money borrowed from our government.

"The volume of financial assistance needed, and the solution, therefore, varies with the situation in each state. Neutral states are flourishing and need cause no concern. Rumania, greater Serbia, Bulgaria, Arabia, Turkey, except Armenia, Portugal, Greece, Hungary, will be virtually self-supporting in fact some of them should be able to export food and with other commodities they can export, they can pretty well provide for all their necessities except perhaps railway construction material, agricultural implements, and currency reorganization. These states represent nearly one third the population of Europe."

"Poland and the Baltic states will produce almost enough bread, grains and vegetables for their own people but will be short of fuel. If they secure reorganization of their currencies, and some working capital for raw material imports, so as to get exports going, they should, with economy be self supporting within a few months. Czechoslovakia, Belgium, and Finland have a large import problem for they always require breadstuffs, meats and fats throughout the year to supplement their own production. These people are already working energetically to get their industries going, even under the terrible difficulties presented by the economic situation. They must have working capital to reorganize their currencies, provide raw material and meet the food problem for awhile. The economic problems of most of these states are simple when compared to the large capital resources of Germany. They will be astonished with their recovery if they have peace."

New Republican Club Honors Ex-Pres. Roosevelt

Lincoln, Neb., June 9.—Articles of incorporation for the Roosevelt Republican club of Nebraska, for the purpose of "perpetuation of the memory of the political ideals of Theodore Roosevelt," have been filed at the office of the secretary of state here.

STRINGENT BLUE SKY LAW URGED IN STATE

Madison, June 9.—That business men and bankers are beginning to realize the necessity for the enactment of a wholesome and stringent Blue Sky law, president of the Commercial National bank, Madison, who is supporting before the legislature the passage of a measure which will greatly strengthen the present Blue Sky law. "The statute books but is a farce," declared Mr. Levitt. "The crooks have already discovered this. They are attempting to prey upon the unsuspecting public of Wisconsin worthless stocks in Blue Sky concerns. Poor people who have been able to save a few dollars by buying Liberty bonds are being swindled by some of these worthless concerns in an effort to have small Liberty bond holders exchange their Liberty bonds for stock in some concern which the promoters know will make millions. Why shouldn't the people be protected? You have a law to protect the people from impure foods; you have a law to protect the people against dishonest weights and measures; why shouldn't you have a law to protect a man who has worked all his life to accumulate a little money to support his widow and orphans from being swindled by the crooks? I have felt in honor bound to act in the same spirit and in the same way as the representatives of the other great powers in this matter and am confident that the legislature will not expect me to break faith with them. I hope the investigation will be most thoroughly prosecuted."

Struck a Match to See; Boy, Gas, Fire, Hospital

Friday, 13th, Is Hun's Day

Paris, June 9.—It has been decided by the allied and associated governments that the reply to the German counter-proposals will not be delivered before Friday, June 13.

The reply will give the Germans a period of five days in which to accept or reject the treaty.

The Council of Four spent this morning considering the various reports submitted by the commissions which had been dealing with features of the answer to the German proposals.

The peace conference commissions on colonies, prisoners of war, responsibilities and the labor, military and naval clauses of the treaty in their reports to the Council of Four, urged the rejection of the German counter-proposals as far as the several commissions are concerned.

GERMANY TO DELVE WAR CAUSE

Berlin, Sunday, June 8.—The constitutional convention has completed consideration of a bill creating a state court which would try those accused of starting, lengthening, and losing the war. It will be presented in the national assembly soon.

The measure provides for a committee of 15 members of the national assembly to investigate the political and military leadership of the country prior to and during the war, and requires the government to produce any documents needed at the projected trial.

Court to Have 15 Members.

The court would be composed of 15 members, including the presidents of the imperial, military, Prussian, Bavarian and Hanseatic supreme courts, five members of the national assembly and five senators. "The accused would be permitted to have counsel and would be given the privilege of testifying. Deliberations of the court would be secret and there would be no appeal from its verdict."

"The people demand an explanation as to who is guilty for the war, why it was not ended earlier, and how the result could not have been partly or wholly avoided," says a statement which will accompany the bill when it is presented to the national assembly.

To Withhold Nothing.

"This is the task of a state court, although it can render no final verdict because it is unable to send any of the other countries into participation in the war. Nevertheless, Germany's desire to withhold nothing from the rest of the world and not to spare the guilty has caused the government to apply for the creation of an international investigation committee which was denied by its opponents. So this court should be created to investigate whether Germans have been guilty of conduct against the fatherland."

The statement declares the court should be above party politics and responsible only to its conscience.

N. Y. BANKERS TO BE QUESTIONED

Morgan, Vanderlip, Lamont
Among Those Subpoenaed
For Investigation.

(By Associated Press)

Washington, June 9.—A copy of the German peace treaty said to have been brought to this country by a Chicago newspaper correspondent, was presented in the senate today by Senator Borah, republican of Idaho and by a vote of 47 to 24 ordered put in the congressional record and printed as a public document.

All the votes against publication were cast by democrats with the exception of that by Senator McCumber of North Dakota, republican. Senator Thomas, democrat, Colorado, forced a roll-call requesting unanimous consent for publication.

Washington, June 9.—In its investigation of how copies of the peace treaty came to New York, the senate foreign relations committee today subpoenaed Jacob Schiff, Thomas A. Lamont, H. P. Davidson, Paul Warburg, J. P. Morgan and Frank A. Vanderlip. Mr. Lamont was requested to bring with him any correspondence which passed between J. P. Morgan and company and its Paris and London agents regarding the treaty and particularly any communications on the subject between the banking house and Mr. Davidson while the latter was abroad.

The committee adopted unanimously a motion by Senator Fall, republican of New Mexico, inviting acting Secretary Polk to appear as a witness and to take part in the inquiry by cross examining witnesses and otherwise.

Borah Makes Charge.

All of the financiers named except Mr. Vanderlip were called at the suggestion of Senator Borah. The list of those to be called by Senator Williams. The subpoenas were drawn on the motion of Senator Hitchcock.

Withholds Name of Informant.

Senator Borah said he did not intend to give the names of his informant that a copy of the treaty was in the hands of New York interests. The senator was cross-questioned at length.

President Wilson in a cablegram received today by Senator Hitchcock, democrat, Nebraska, said he hoped the investigation by the senate foreign relations committee to come out of the peace treaty reached private interests in New York would "be most thoroughly prosecuted."

The president's message follows: "Please convey following to Senator Hitchcock: I am heartily glad that you have demanded an investigation with regard to the possession of texts of the treaty by unauthorized persons. I have felt that it was highly undesirable officially to communicate the text of a document which is still in negotiation and subject to change. Any one who has possession of the official English text has what he clearly not entitled to have or to broadcast. I have felt in honor bound to act in the same spirit and in the same way as the representatives of the other great powers in this matter and am confident that the legislature will not expect me to break faith with them. I hope the investigation will be most thoroughly prosecuted."

Frazier Hunt Brings Copy.

New York, June 8.—The full text of the treaty of peace with the central powers has been brought to this country by Frazier Hunt, a correspondent.

A NATIONAL BUDGET.

Representative Frear has introduced resolutions in the lower house of congress which provide for a national as well as an annual budget.
Vigorous efforts have been made in both the house and the senate to prevent wasteful appropriation bills, including so-called "pork-barrels."
These efforts have had the effect of paring down some of these extravagant bills. In order to go farther in cutting these evils a genuine reform must be had by changing the system of making appropriations.
A joint resolution which has been referred to the ways and means committee provides for one annual budget bill covering all departmental estimates and revenue estimates when necessary to be substituted for the dozen and one piece-meal bills drawn and reported as many different commissions under present practices.
When prepared the budget would be critically analyzed and investigated by an expert accounting force appointed by and acting for congress.
A joint committee of congress would pass upon and report the bill to the house and the senate.

Every country in the world except the United States has a budget system. It is estimated that hundreds of millions of dollars are now annually collected by direct taxation and thereafter lost through waste or extravagance because of our present unbusinesslike methods. A budget would save annually, months of valuable time now frittered away by congress over a mass of details. All political parties have pledged to do this.

To become effective, the power and jurisdiction of a dozen large appropriation committees must be curtailed and honors, influence and prestige, treasured by individual members of these committees in both houses, must be partly sacrificed for the public welfare if a strong budget system is adopted.

However, our representatives should be willing to make their personal sacrifices for the good of the people. It is their opportunity to show their sincerity and make good on some of the pre-election promises made when votes were needed.

WATCH YOUR CHICKS.
The department of agriculture has issued a warning against the "seventeen-year locusts" in localities where they are plentiful. The department says:

If the so-called "seventeen-year locusts" or locusts are plentiful in your locality, and you are keeping chickens that have a chance to run under the trees where the locusts are numerous, watch out for trouble. It might well be supposed that the numerous locusts would provide a feast for the chicks and they do, but this feast is not unattended with danger. Serious losses may result from the chicks eating too many of these insects. The wings and legs of the locusts seem to be quite indigestible, and are likely to obstruct the outlet of the crop in such a way as to cause the chicks to become crop-bound.

"Little chicks are not troubled because they are too small to tear apart and eat the locusts, but chicks that are more than four weeks old are large enough to devour the locusts and to have trouble as a result. The only feasible means of combating this difficulty is to move the chicks, if possible, to fields where there are few trees and where the locusts in consequence do not gather in numbers.
Trouble also has been reported from mature fowls eating the locusts in great numbers with considerable mortality resulting."

OUR LOSS.

A young man who has been employed in this city for several months came into our office last week and offered the information that he was going to quit his job. When asked the reasons he gave this one: "I like the town and I like the job, but the people are not sociable enough. It is too lonesome for a fellow who has been accustomed to having many friends with whom he can associate after business hours. Unless you belong to some of the cliques here, you do not get on very well."

That statement came from a clean-cut young man, refined, well-educated, of pleasing personality and rather good looking. He wanted to leave because he had not had an opportunity to become one of the younger social set. Janesville lost a young man who would add to her citizenship. Some-other city will appear more attractive to him and in time, perhaps, will receive some benefit from his decision to become a transient citizen.

If that is the feeling of one young fellow, it doubtless is similarly experienced by others who come here to make their home. We need all the intelligent, clean youth we can get.
We should make it a point to see that those who are coming here are made to feel at home. It should be the duty of our citizens to hold those who are willing to take this city their home. If we let them get away, we are the losers.

It is a safe bet that before July 1 arrives, Wilson will have declared that the army has been demobilized and that the emergency liquor amendment is not necessary. The war department says all soldiers will be demobilized by June 12. It is up to the president as congress does not wish to take the initiative in repealing the act.

Plans are being formulated for War Savings Stamp societies which will encourage membership in lodges, clubs and other organizations. The movement is worthy of the support of all who believe that the future of this country depends upon the thrift of its citizens. The work in Rock county should be given every encouragement.

That dollar you pay for an associate membership in the Boy Scouts of America is a contribution to the nation's future. It is your way of expressing your gratitude for what the Scouts did for the country during the war and a pretty substantial indication of your citizenship.

This is Boy Scout week. Every man who is interested in the movement should join the organization as an associate member and aid in developing the work in the local field.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A GUEST

A HOLIDAY.

We'll come to greatness by and by
Or falling never shed a tear;
Just now the sun is in the sky
Just now the brooks are running clear.

And there are pleasant lanes to tread;
With beauty all the world is gay.
Let him who will go straight ahead,
We'll give our soul a holiday.

We'll come to fortune later on
Or failing never give a sigh;
The clover's fair to look upon
And not a cloud is in the sky.
The trees are gowned once more in the green.

The sun, it seems, have much to say;
Out here where all is pure and clean
We'll give our soul a holiday.

We'll turn away from fame and gold,
We'll wander far from eager men
Who clutch at things they cannot hold,
And be a care-free spurs again.
We'll drop the cruel spurs of haste
And let the cool breeze blow again.
What though life's precious time we waste,
We'll give our soul a holiday.

And if we never reach our goal,
And if we never win success,
We still can say that once our soul
Has had a day of happiness,
That once beneath the open sky
We turned our back on sordid schemes
And gave our soul a chance to try Its wings out in the world of dreams.

ON THE SPUR of the MOMENT

ROY E. MOULTON

A LITTLE SLICE O' LIFE.

The other day
We were in a prohibition town
And were walking down the street
With a friend who lived in the town.
"Doesn't prohibition prohibit?"
I asked my friend, and he replied:
"Certainly it does.
Nobody can buy a drop in this town.
Nobody can ship any in.
And nobody can bring any in.
Every suitcase is searched.
There hasn't been a drop of liquor in this neighborhood for two years.
If you call that a pretty good record,
You can't even get it.
In patent medicines."
Just then we looked across the street
at this neighborhood for two years.
Clinging to a lamppost and singing,
"When I die, bury me deep
With a bottle of alcohol at my feet."
A policeman was hurrying after him.
"What's the matter with him?"
Asked my friend, much alarmed.
"He's stewed," said the policeman.
"The fifth one I have picked up this morning."

One sign of advancing prohibition is that they seem to have removed all the Bronx from the Bronx cocktail.

DEFINITION.
All this poetry—
This poetry!
You say
"That's bad."
And—"his"
Is good."
Do you not know
If it is Poetry?
It can be neither?

"Are we a nation of nickel nurses?" asks one editor.
No. What's the use of saving nickels? A nickel don't buy anything any more.

Now that the platinum corner has been broken and prices have gone down it will probably be possible to buy a platinum finger ring as low as $595 if you go to the right place.

EDGERTON CAMPING PARTY MARRED BY DROWNING, DEATH

(By Special Correspondent)

Edgerton, June 9.—A number of school teachers formed a camping party at Lake Waubesa near McFarland and had planned on spending a week at the lake. Among the party were Miss Hahn, Miss Lyon, Miss Bergstrom, Miss Gustafson, Miss Olson. The party was en route to the lake when a heavy rain storm came and Mrs. Percy Solbraa, son of Mrs. A. L. Solbraa, Stoughton, was a member of the party and Saturday evening while in bathing dove off the pier striking his head on the bottom. He was unconscious and would have drowned but for the assistance of other members of the party. Medical aid was summoned and young Solbraa after several hours was revived and removed to the cottage. Shortly after midnight he suffered with hemorrhage and at four o'clock Sunday morning he died. The authorities at Madison were called and the lake distance telephone and asked to lend their lungmotor and replied that if the motor was needed a car would have to be sent to Madison for the machine. Two doctors were at the lake spending the week-end and also a number of fraternity men from the university who assisted in reviving the man after the accident.
Solbraa had just returned from Europe where he had served with the 32nd division.

JANESVILLE POLICE HAVE CHANCE TO WIN
REWARD OF $25,000

If you walk down the street during the next few days and find a policeman staring at you do not get panic-stricken and think you are about to be arrested. He will be simply scanning all faces looking for the person who placed the bomb at the home of E. J.
Davis, mayor of Cleveland.

Chief of Police William Gower received word today from the Ohio authorities that a reward of $25,000 has been offered for the person who placed the bomb at the home of E. J.
Davis, mayor of Cleveland.

Household Hint.

To make a cheap filter, take a large flower pot and stop the hole with a sponge. Cover with a few inches of powdered charcoal; fill with water, and let it stand over a pall supported by two or three sticks. The water filtering through the charcoal will be freed from all impurities. The charcoal should be changed every three months.

Look at the Best in Sight.
Get into the habit of looking at the silver lining of the cloud; and when you have found it, continue to look at it rather than at the leaden gray in the middle. It will help you over many hard places.—A. A. Willis, D. D.

NOTICE

ing left my bed and board, I will not be responsible for any debts contracted by her since June 6.

tion this evening at 7:30. Work in

BIG TOWN HOLD-UP
STAGED ON MILTON
AVENUE SATURDAY

Another hold-up, just like what you read about in the Chicago papers, was reported to Chief of Police William Gower, Sunday. Earl Hall, 414 Prosper street, informed the local police that he was lugged by two men on Milton avenue about 10:30 o'clock
Saturday night and robbed of $15.
Chief Gower said today that he was making a careful investigation of the robbery. Hall told the police that he was downtown on business Saturday night, and started for home shortly after 10 o'clock.
He was walking north on Milton avenue, when he was accosted by two men, who asked him where he was going. Before he could reply one of the men struck him, and the other dove on him and after rifling his pockets and finding they money, they escaped in the dark.

PACKED EMERGENCY RATIONS FOR ARMY

Packing emergency rations for the army at the rate of 40,000 in 24 hours, going at full speed seven days in the week for five months, is the story by Edgerton, who has just returned to Janesville from Kansas City, where he has been for the past five months in charge of the emergency ration branch of the quartermaster corps of the United States army.

This Kansas City factory, employing 900 workers, turned out 2,000,000
cans, each containing three rations, during the past week. The rations contained 12 ounces of food; meat, wheat, and chocolate rations. The cans were oval shaped, made to fit in the soldier's pocket, and were capable of keeping a man alive for 48 hours.

Mr. DeForest was assistant chief inspector of the quartermaster corps and has been in the service for 14 months. He is the son of O. L. De-Forest, and brother of John and Eugene DeForest, of the Waveland farm, Mineral Point avenue.

EDGERTON M. E.
CHILDREN TO PICNIC

Edgerton, June 9.—The Methodist Episcopal Sunday school will hold its annual picnic

News Notes From
—Movieland—

By Daisy Dean.

Miss Alice Maitson.

Well, it's over. We have had our day of meeting with the Sennett bathing girls. Oh, girls, the costumes! You wouldn't care either if you couldn't swim if you only could wear such gorgeous bathing suits. After we saw "Yankee Doodle in Berlin," with Bothwell Browne, who makes such a handsome woman, as the hero, we went back to meet the girls.

Miss Maitson Alice Maitson is the way she taught us to say it, met us with tear-dimmed eyes. She had come all the way from Los Angeles to appear for just one week with the girls and then her prettiest costume had got lost on the way and spoiled everything. She smiled and pouted prettily as she told us the sad tale. Then she escorted us up to her dressing room and told us all about everything. She lives at home with her parents in Los Angeles and is only 19 years old, and how she "just loves to dance." Miss Maitson is a dancer and has appeared many times on the coast, but she is now making her first trip east and is thrilled just like any young girl would be at the prospect of her first visit to New York.

Then she told us a deep, dark secret—she likes the stage better than the movies. She wants to be a premier danseuse and have her own company to support her.

"Pictures do not give me a chance to use my dancing," she explained, "and it is so tedious to sit around all day waiting for your scene to be called. I can work so much better when I face an audience and hear their applause and feel that they are with me. It is much harder to get into action with only a camera to face. Miss Maitson designs most of her own costumes and she enjoys doing it. She wore a purple metal cloth over silver trimmed with purple sequins when we saw her. Of course it was a bathing suit even if it does sound like an evening gown. She wore

Pieces of Eight

Being the authentic narrative of a treasure discovered in the Bahamas Islands in the Year 1903—now first given to the public.

RICHARD LE GAULLENNE.

Book I.

CHAPTER I.

Introduces the Secretary of the Treasury of His Britannic Majesty's Government at Nassau, New Providence, Bahamas Islands.

During the summer of 1903 I was paying what must have seemed like an interminable visit to my old friend John Saunders, who at that time filled with becoming dignity the high-sounding office of secretary of the treasury of his majesty's government, in the quaint little town of Nassau, one of the islands of New Providence, one of the Bahamas Islands that lie half lost to the world to the southeast of the Caribbean sea and form a somewhat neglected portion of the British West India.

Time was when they had a sounding name for themselves in the world; when the now sleepy little harbor gave shelter to rousing freebooters and tarry pirates, tearing in there under full sail with their loot from the Spanish Main.

But those heroic days are gone, and Nassau is given up to a sleepy trade in sponges and tortoise shell, and peace is no name for the drowsy tenor of the days under the palm trees and the scarlet poincianas.

Here a handful of Englishmen, clothed in the white linen suits of the tropics, carry on the government after the traditional manner of British colonies from time immemorial, each of them, like my friend, not without an English smile at the humor of the thing, supporting the dignity of offices with impressive names—lord chief justice, attorney general, speaker of the house, lord high admiral, colonial secretary and so forth.

My friend the secretary of the treasury is a man possessing in an uncommon degree that rare and most attractive of human qualities, companionship. As we sit together in the hush of his snugger of an evening, surrounded by guns, fishing lines and old prints, there are times when we scarcely exchange a dozen words between dinner and bedtime, and yet we have all the time a keen and satisfying sense of companionship. It is John Saunders' gift. Companionship seems quietly to ooze out of him, without the need of words.

And occasionally we have as third in those evening conclaves a big, stov-smiling, broad-faced young merchant of the same kidney. In he drops with a nod and a smile, and takes his place in the smoke cloud of our meditations, radiating without the effort of speech that good thing—humanity; though one must not forget the one subject on which now and again the good Charlie Webster achieves eloquence in spite of himself—duck shooting.

John Saunders' subject is shark fishing. Duck shooting and shark fishing. It is enough. Here, for sensible men, is a sufficient basis for life-long friendship, and unvarying, inexhaustible companionship.

It was in this piece of John Saunders' snugger one July evening in 1903, the three of us being duly met and ensconced in our respective armchairs, that we got onto the subject of buried treasure. It was I who started us off by asking John what he knew about buried treasure.

quiet laugh. "Buried treasure!" he said; "well, I have little doubt that the islands are full of it—if one only knew how to get at it."

"Seriously?" I asked.

"Certainly. Why not? Weren't these islands for nearly three centuries the stamping ground of all the pirates of the Spanish Main? Morgan was here. Blackbeard was here. The very governors themselves were little better than pirates. This room we are sitting in was the den of one of the biggest rogues of them all—John Tinker—the governor when Bruce was here building Fort Montague at the east end yonder; building it against pirates, and little else but pirates at the Government house all the time. A great old time Tinker gave the poor fellow. You can read all about it in his 'Memoirs.' Nassau was the rendezvous for all the cutthroats of the Caribbean sea. Here they came in with their loot, their doubloons and pieces of eight; and John's eyes twinkled with enjoyment of the rich old romantic words, as though they were old port.

"Here they squandered much of it, no doubt, but they couldn't squander it all. Some of them were thrifty knaves, too, and these, looking around for some place of safety, would naturally think of the bush. The niggers keep their little hoards there to this day. 'It's their form of stocking,' put in Charlie Webster.

"Precisely. Well, as I was saying, those old fellows would bury their hoards in some cave or other, and then go off—and get hanged. Their ghosts perhaps came back. But their money is still here, lots of it, you bet your life."

"Do they ever make any finds?" I asked.

"Nothing big that I know of. A jug full of old coins now and then. I found one a year or two ago in my garden here—buried down among the roots of that old fig tree."

"Then," put in Charlie, "there was that mysterious stranger offer at North Cay. He's supposed to have got away with quite a pile."

"Tell me about him," said I.

"Well, there used to be an old eccentric character in the town here—a half-breed by the name of Andrews. John nodded.

"He used to go around all the time with a big umbrella, and muttering to himself. We used to think him half crazy. Gone so brooding over this very suspect of buried treasure. Better look out, young man!"—smiling at me. "He used to be always gribbing about in the bush. Well, several years ago there came a visitor from New York, and he got thick with the old fellow. They used to go about a lot together, and were often off on so-called fishing trips for days on end. Actually, it is believed, they were after something on North Cay. At all events some months afterward the New Yorker disappeared as he had come and has not been heard from since. But since then they have found a sort of brick vault over there which has evidently been excavated. I have seen it myself. A sort of walled chamber. There, it's supposed the New Yorker found something or other. That's the story for what it's worth."

As Charlie finished John slipped his knee.

"The very thing for you!" he said; "why have I never thought of it before?"

"What do you mean, John?" we both asked.

"Why down at the office I've got the very thing. A pity I haven't got it here. You must come in and see it tomorrow."

"What on earth is it? Why do you keep us guessing?"

"Why, it's an old manuscript that came into my hands a short time ago. Charlie, you remember old Wicks—old Billy Wicks—'Wrecker' Wicks, they called him—"

"I should say I do. A wonderful old villain—"

"But the document, for heaven's sake," I said. "The document first; the story will keep."

"Well, they were pulling down Wicks' own house just lately, and out of the rafters there fell a roll of paper—now I've got it."

"The thing is giving."

"Charlie, let's look at it together; and John nodded, with tantalizing deliberation.

"It's a statement purporting to be made by some fellow on his death-bed—some fellow dying out in Texas—a quondam pirate, anxious to make his peace at the end and to give his friends the benefit of his knowledge."

"Oh, John!" said I, "I shan't sleep a wink tonight."

"I don't take much stock in it," said John. "I'm inclined to think it's a hoax. Someone trying to fool the old fellow."

But, boys, it's bed-time, anyhow. Come down to the office in the morning—and we'll look it over."

So our meeting broke up for the time being, and taking my candle I went upstairs, to dream of caves overflowing with goldpieces, and John Tinker, fierce and mustachioed, standing over me, a cutlass between his teeth and a revolver in each hand.

SEBORRHEA IS KILLING HAIR

Everyone knows that the men and women of America are losing their hair.

The prevalence of seborrhea (the dandruff disease) is appalling. But just as science proved that dandruff was due to bacilli, science now offers the remedy.

It is FAMO.

FAMO destroys the dandruff bacilli and stops the seborrhean secretion. It stops all itching of the scalp.

It penetrates the scalp and unless the hair roots are entirely dead, it encourages and stimulates the growth of new hair.

The ingredients of FAMO have never before been used in the treatment of the scalp. But they are well known to medical science.

Three years were spent in perfecting FAMO in one of the great pharmaceutical laboratories of Detroit.

FAMO makes the hair and scalp healthy. It nourishes the hair in a wonderful way and makes it lustrous and fluffy.

FAMO comes in two sizes—35 cents and a big bottle at $1. Your money back if you are not satisfied.

Seborrhea is the medical name for a morbidly increased flow from the sebaceous glands of the scalp. The seborrhean secretion forms in scales or flakes and is commonly known as dandruff.

prettily, and disappeared from the balcony. He met her, approximately, half a minute later in the patio.

"Teresa!" he cried; his voice shaking as he could not keep his hands from shaking.

"Don't!" she whispered, slipping away from him. "Papa grande does not like me to come to him with—my hair mussed, Senor Billy."

They came into the drawing-room together, eager people. De la Guerra, his heart dropping a little as though he were tired, looked up at them.

"Teresa!" he said, rising quickly. "Senor Stanway!"

"You can guess it, can't you?" Stanway blurted out. "We have a notion to send to La Panza for Father Ignacio. Is there some priest you'd prefer, senor?"

"O-oh!" gasped Teresa.

De la Guerra bowed gravely. "Senor Stanway," he said, speaking slowly, his eyes thoughtful. "Teresa has told me how much you have done for us. There was something which she did not tell me which I guessed. I owe you—very much. I owe you everything, senor! And, with a quick, strangely sweet smile, 'I am a man who pays his debts in full.'"

He bowed, suddenly caught up Stanway's hand, and placed it upon the girl's.

"I owe you everything. And," with a courtly bow to his granddaughter, "I give you everything."

"Papa grande!" cried Teresa. "Papa grande!"

"The only thing," smiled the old man, "is—he is an American! Well, since one cannot change the Americans—You will come to me, my children, in the library."

He walked to the door, paused, turned his smiling face upon them, and added:

"I shall not expect you immediately. Teresa, can you entertain the senor for, let us say, an hour? You will, pardon me for that long, senor? I shall be very busy amending certain remarks in my memoirs. He laughed softly. "Concerning the Americans, senor!"

All The Family

A cab halted at a street corner and a man alighted. The latter had evidently not the means at hand to pay his fare by the manner in which he dived first into one pocket and then the other. He was relieved, however, from his embarrassment by a man tendering a treasury note to the driver with the remark: "Take your fare out of that; I know this gentleman."

The change was given and the cabbie was soon out of sight.

"To whom am I indebted for this kindness?" asked the first gentleman.

"Not me, sir. On the contrary, that's a bad note I've been wanting to change all day."

"Where are you going to lecture tonight, my dear?" inquired Mr. Wise of his wife, a prominent equal suffrage lecturer.

"I am to address the Cooks' and Housemaids' Union," she responded.

"I see nothing to laugh about. Surely they have as much right to vote as any other women," his wife began indignantly.

"I am not denying that, my dear," mildly explained Mr. Wise, "but it is a waste of time. Don't you realize that a cook or housemaid never remains long enough in one position to be entitled to a vote?"

Mrs. Wise, recognizing the wisdom of her husband's argument, smiled.

"I owe you everything. And," with a courtly bow to his granddaughter, "I give you everything."

"Papa grande!" cried Teresa. "Papa grande!"

"The only thing," smiled the old man, "is—he is an American! Well, since one cannot change the Americans—You will come to me, my children, in the library."

MILTON COLLEGE GRADUATES GIVEN FAREWELL SERMON

(By Special Correspondent.)
Milton, June 9.—The baccalaureate service at Milton college was held Sunday evening at the Seventh-day Baptist church. The pastors of the village, including the Rev. H. N. Jordan, the newly settled pastor of the church where the service was held, took part in the service. The music was by the church choir under the direction of Prof. A. E. Whitford.
Pres. William C. Daland preached the sermon, taking as his theme, "The Treasure Found."
President Daland likened faith to the ark of God, and after explaining the history of the ark and the event in David's life when he brought the ark to his capital, he said there are three sorts of faith: the faith that cometh by hearing, the faith of childhood; the faith of struggle, the faith of maturity; the faith of fellowship.
In conclusion President Daland said to the class: "Cherish the faith of your childhood. Love the ark of God, the church of your Father, the Sabbath of your household blessing. Provide for your faith. If your faith is lost in the struggle of life, if like David you fall and lose your treasure, find it again, enthrone it anew in your heart. Go forth to help your fellows in their struggles and doubts. Do not undermine the precious faith of another. Join with all that are reverent and exalt the holy treasure of your new-found faith with all men."
The literary societies of Milton college gave an entertainment Saturday evening in the college gymnasium. The college band, which has been kept up ever since the demobilization of the S. A. T. C., played some spirited selections. There were readings and an oration, the latter by L. C. Shaw of the senior class, who spoke of the psychological tests in the United States army. Attractive musical selections were given, the most striking being trios for violin, violoncello, and piano by the Misses Bingham, and a contralto solo by Miss Anna Post. The women students presented an amusing burlesque of the students' army training corps.

Leader Tells of Future in Store for Salvation Army

New York, June 9.—What the future holds for the Salvation Army, crowned with success in all its war undertakings, is discussed by Evangeline Booth, its commander, in a statement issued recently. She says: "The Salvation Army emerges from the great war—as years ago the organization came out of the Boer war—the loyal and devoted friend of the fighting man. That was our first experience on a battlefield. Today khaki-clad men all over this country know they can count on us in hours of great human need. I think the whole world understands this now.

"Important changes are coming to the Salvation Army and they will be changes for the better. The passing of the old-fashioned, casual method of soliciting money on the street corners and the substitution of more modern ways of collecting funds is a good innovation. The broadening and deepening of our work is good. The future, however, will see no change in the mighty foundation rocks upon which the movement stands.

"No different methods of gaining financial support will ever pull us away from the poor for we are of the poor. Our calling and our service are of the poor, for the poor.

"And this is the past, and all of the future, as far as the great underlying principles of the Salvation Army are concerned. Always we have worked with a 'three o'clock in the morning' courage. Bonaparte once called that the way to test courage. To us it has meant, simply, homely service to men and women 24 hours of every day. Destitution, neglect, disappointment, pain, these are the things that it takes high courage to meet. It is right here and now that men and women need help. This is the 'zero hour' of human agony, that God has called upon us to mitigate and relieve. By His help, in His name and for His sake we accept the great responsibility.

"In planning the program of work for the year ahead, our expansion lies in the service we offer rather than in the machinery of the organization itself. Rendering an account of our stewardship, we have only one thought in mind: the man who is down—but never out. After all, he is the one who counts first.

"We have tried to solve our problem of living by a formula less complicated than the problem itself. What does it profit a man to investigate his 'background' and judge his case accordingly if he is in the gutter and hungry? If a man is hungry on Wednesday, the army has discovered that it is better for both his body and soul to feed him on Wednesday rather than wait for the proper committee to meet on Friday and give the 'case' due consideration.

"The war is over and the stage is set for a new play, based on a theme as old as the eternal hills. It is a theme that has to do with the happiness of man, with the things that go to make life a tragedy or a long path of contentment. The setting and the characters are the same, only the stage is bigger—the cast is larger.

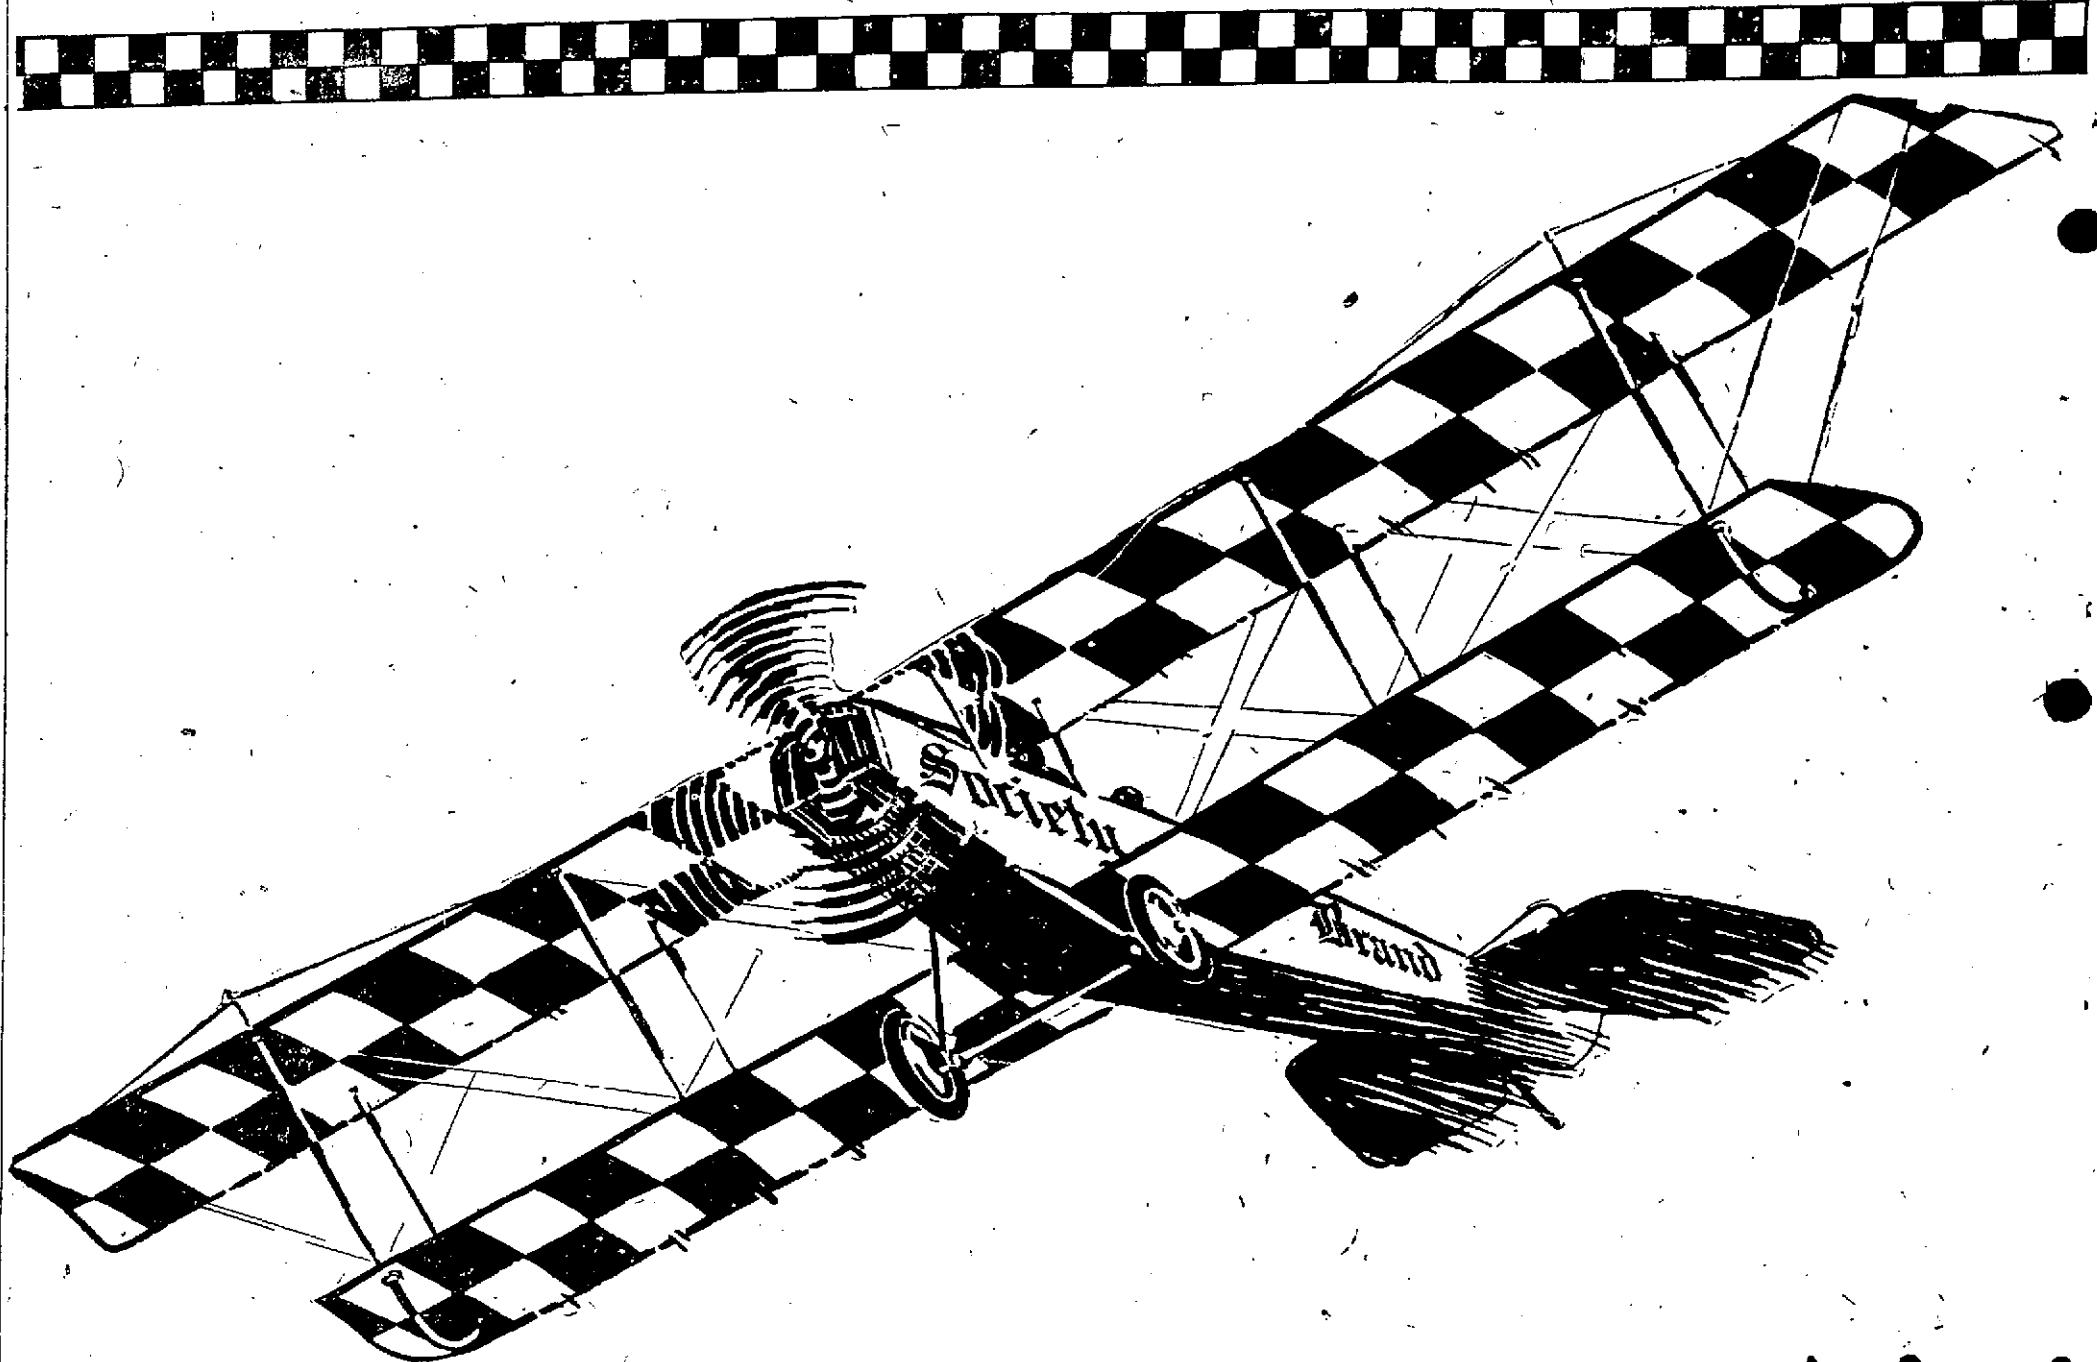

"In the orchestra you will hear the same old horns and drums and the little tambourines. The players will wear the familiar blue uniform with its dash of red like a leaping flame. The message of hope and love which the Salvation Army brings to the unravelling of the plot will help the unfolding human drama. All of this is unchanged.

"Now the audience is not without a more or less interested motive. It has calculated that the price of the augmented stage may not be as heavy a financial burden as the care of a criminal lurking around some nearby street corner in a dark night. The audience knows well what happens to the so-called 'criminals' once they become interested in the 'plot' of the Salvation Army. They drop their wickedness in the last act and live happily ever after.

"So it comes about that the Salvation Army can never change the plot. There never will be a new way of reclaiming men from the human wastage of great cities."

Official recognition by congress of the work of the Salvation Army in war and of Evangeline Booth as its head, is provided for in the resolution recently introduced by Senator James E. Watson of Indiana. He would confer upon Miss Booth the honorary rank of colonel in the U. S. Army and award her a Distinguished Service Medal.

THE WISHING PLANE

The first thing the children noticed about the folks they met were the wooden shoes that everybody wore. The shoes looked awfully clumsy, but the children noticed that even the little tots running around seemed not to mind the odd footwear.

The women and girls wore the queerest hats the children had ever seen. These hats were made of lace. They were high and had wide wings or bows made out of the lace. They were stretched stiff.

"The lace is usually real old and very valuable," Ladydear told the children. Some of it was worn by the little girls' grandmothers and greatgrandmothers and great-great-grandmothers. The hats were worn only when the folks go out on the street and not when they are working, so you see they last a long time. All of the women make beautiful lace and the little girls must learn how to make it, too."

The children noticed cunning little arches and tiny chapels along the road, and asked Ladydear what they were told them that these places are called shrines and that the Bretons stop often along the road to pray in these places, for they are a very religious people. They also believe in witches and do many queer things to keep the evil witches away from them.

There weren't many windows in the houses along the road and through the open doors the children could see that the houses were awful gloomy. When the driver stopped before one of the houses Ladydear arranged to take the children in. Such queer homes!

In the first place there wasn't any honest-to-goodness floor. The children were standing right on the ground when they got in the house.

To make floors, the Bretons simply pack down the clay very hard and keep it smooth and free from dust and loose particles by sweeping it, just as we would a floor.

And what surprised the children even more was the fact that inside the windows inside the house were little beds of flowers, made right in the floor. The flowers grew up the windows and blossomed just as if they were out of doors.

It was a good thing, the children thought, that flowers could grow inside, because they made the gloomy rooms more cheerful.

Booth was taking absolutely no interest in the proceedings at all. And I don't blame him in a way. Before they left the airplane at the dock, Captain Brave, without asking Booth at all, took a little leather collar and strap out of a drawer in the airplane and announced that from then on Booth would have to wear a collar and most of the time be content to walk along quietly with them "for," said Captain Brave, "we will soon be visiting the battlefields and we don't want Booth to fall into a shell hole or a dug-out and become lost altogether." So just now Booth was sitting mournfully in one corner of the house about ready to cry.

SHRINERS OF U. S. AT JUBILEE MEETING ON IN INDIANAPOLIS

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Indianapolis, Ind., June 9.—Shriners from all parts of the United States and Canada were present when the jubilee session of the imperial council began its four-day annual convention here today. More than 50,000 Shriners are expected to attend the convention, which is the first to be held since the meeting at Buffalo in 1917, when it was decided to suspend the annual festivities until after the war. Thousands of rooms in private houses are being utilized to accommodate visitors who could not find quarters in hotels.

The city, which has been preparing for the festival for months, is decorated in a brilliant manner. In addition to flags and bunting, the downtown streets are spanned by arches and illuminated with night lights and electric lights in festoons and various designs.

Officially the convention does not begin until tomorrow, today's program being given over to the registration of visitors and in getting them acquainted. It also included the presentation of a flag to the city of Indianapolis by El Kafil temple of Spokane, Wash., and the first events of the "wild west" round-up and athletic and boxing contests.

The round-up consists of championship contests in broncho busting, rough riding, steer roping, "bull dogging," wild horse racing and other sports of the plains. Many contestants, including a number of women, from the northwest and southwest, are here to participate. The Texas Austin manager of the round-up, has received shipments of steers, bulls and wild horses from the southwest. It is said that the round-up is the first ever staged east of the Mississippi in more than a generation. Cash prizes will be paid the winners.

Numerous receptions, band concerts, and other events for the entertainment of the visitors are on each day's program. The most spectacular event is expected Wednesday night when the grand parade will be held. The parade, bands, uniformed units, and the nobles in dress robes will close Thursday with the election of officers and the selection of the 1920 meeting place. New Orleans and Portland, Ore., temples are making strong bids for the next meeting.

SILK MAKER GREETED BY PILE OF LETTERS

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] New York, June 9.—Sitting before a pile of letters from manufacturers all over the United States, hundreds of them, all asking him for information as to the success of the "industrial democracy" plan in operation in his silk mill at Petersburg, N. J., B. B. Brand David explained in his office here today the advantages of the system and the difficulties of installing it in the average factory.

"There is no doubt," said Mr. David, "that the plan, which is based upon the idea of constitutional government, creates a better basis of understanding between management and worker than is possible under the old system."

"It is the means of settling every question of wages, hours and working conditions that may arise and, through the constant personal contact between employer and employee, facilitates such settlements to a considerable degree. It tends to the elimination of wasteful methods and minimizes friction. It stimulates the worker's interest in his work and, best of all, it puts the human touch into the relations between employer and employee, the one thing more than anything else that makes for peace and harmony."

"I have never known of an industrial subject that appealed to popular imagination so much as this does. This idea will spread because every manufacturer who is alive to the times is looking for some system that will ease up a situation that has rapidly been growing from bad to worse, the relation between capital and labor. But let no one think the plan is easy or that it is one-sided. It is purely a 'give and take' and a 'live and let live' idea."

Map of Illinois Made of Cancelled Postage

[BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS.] Springfield, Ill., June 8.—F. F. Perry, Atlanta, has a map of Illinois on display at the statehouse here made entirely of cancelled postage stamps. Mr. Perry declares 9,000 stamps were used in its production and that before they were cancelled they had a valuation of $400,000. He commenced work on the map Sept. 7, 1913, and completed it April 8. A pioneer figure and Columbia with the American eagle at her feet resting on a cannon are at the left of the map. An inscription underneath the eagle reads: "First, last and all the time for the United States. The work at the left is also done in postage stamps."
